

The Vision/Traction Organizer (VITO)

The two-page strategic tool that aligns your entire leadership team on where you're going and how you're going to get there.

What Is the VITO?

The V/TO is a two-page document that captures your company's entire strategic plan. Page one is Vision — where you're going. Page two is Traction — how you're going to get there. Every person on your leadership team should be able to recite the answers. If they can't, you don't have alignment — you have assumptions.

The 8 Questions

The VITO is built by answering these eight questions as a leadership team:

#	Question	What It Means
1	Core Values	The 3–5 defining principles of your culture. These are non-negotiable. You hire, fire, review, and reward based on these. If someone violates a core value, they go — regardless of performance.
2	Core Focus	Two parts: your Purpose (why you exist beyond making money) and your Niche (what you do better than anyone else). This keeps you from chasing every shiny opportunity.
3	10-Year Target	One big, clear, measurable goal. Not a mission statement — a target. "$50M in revenue" or "500 units under management." Something the whole team can rally behind.
4	Marketing Strategy	Your target market (who), your three uniques (why you over the competition), your proven process (how you deliver), and your guarantee (what you stand behind).

#	Question	What It Means
5	3-Year Picture	What does the business look like in 3 years? Revenue, profit, number of employees, number of projects, key capabilities. Make it vivid enough that everyone can see the same picture.
6	1-Year Plan	3–7 specific, measurable goals for this year. Revenue target, margin target, key hires, systems to implement. These become the basis for your quarterly Rocks.
7	Quarterly Rocks	The 3–7 most important priorities for the next 90 days. Each Rock has one owner and a clear, binary completion criteria — it's done or it's not. Rocks create the cadence of execution.
8	Issues List	Every known problem, obstacle, idea, and opportunity in the business — captured in one place. This feeds the IDS process in your weekly L10 meeting. Nothing gets lost, everything gets prioritized.

Example VITO — ABC Construction Co.

VISION

Core Values	1. Do what you say you'll do 2. Own it — no excuses 3. Build it right the first time 4. Protect the team
Core Focus	Purpose: Build structures that outlast us Niche: Ground-up commercial construction, $5–25M projects, Southeast region
10-Year Target	$100M in annual revenue with 12% net profit
Marketing Strategy	Target: Private developers, 50–200 unit multifamily Three Uniques: On-time delivery, in-house preconstruction, owner-direct communication Guarantee: Guaranteed maximum price with open-book accounting

TRACTION

3-Year Picture	$50M revenue, 8% net margin, 35 full-time employees, 6 active projects at any time, in-house estimating team of 3
1-Year Plan	1. Hit $28M revenue 2. Hire VP of Operations 3. Implement project management software 4. Win 2 new developer relationships 5. Achieve 7% net margin
Quarterly Rocks	1. [Owner: CEO] Close 2 new contracts by June 30 2. [Owner: VP Ops] Hire and onboard senior PM by May 15 3. [Owner: Controller] Implement weekly cash flow reporting by June 1 4. [Owner: Estimator] Build standardized bid template by May 30
Issues List	1. PM turnover — lost 2 in the last year 2. Estimating bottleneck — all bids go through one person 3. No safety director — relying on supers 4. Sub pricing increasing 10–15% — squeezing margins

Why It Matters

Without a VITO, every person on your leadership team has a different version of where the company is going. The VITO eliminates that. It forces alignment on the hard questions — and once it's built, it becomes the filter for every major decision: Does this move us toward our 10-Year Target? Does it fit our Core Focus? Does it align with our Core Values? If the answer is no, you don't do it. That's clarity. That's traction.
